August 30, 2011

The West Virginia Perinatal Partnership, in collaboration with the Benedum Foundation and the West Virginia Department of Health and Human Resources, Bureau of Behavior Health and Health Facilities, and the Bureau of Public Health, Office of Maternal, Child and Family Health is pleased to announce an exciting new initiative called the Drug Free Moms and Babies Project. Under this new program, up to four pilot project sites around the state will be funded to deliver comprehensive medical, social and behavior health services to pregnant and post-partum women.

Enclosed is a Request for Proposals. This package also includes the following:

- Project description.
- Application.
- List of hospitals that participated in 2009 umbilical cord tissue study.
- SBIRT information.
- Options for treating opioid addiction.
- Best practice information, including journal articles.
- List of helpful contacts.

Applications will be accepted on an on-going basis. Awards are anticipated to be made every 4-6 months based upon availability of funding.
